

Leadership Bootcamp

bes037

PREREQUISITE: None

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Individuals who have the courage to look at themselves and then positively act on what they uncover, are the exception. Leadership is critical to the overall growth and development of any organization. A leader's ability to lead, coach and develop people and teams is essential to the bottom line. Many leaders do not know how their leadership creates both clarity and confusion and what they need to do to be consistent in how they lead. All leaders have gifts and deficits that need to be understood and leveraged to create alignment and growth. In this one-day, fast-paced workshop you will be able to identify your gifts and deficits and plan for a future surrounded by others who complement your strengths and goals. Lunch included.
