

Generations in the Classroom TT210

Hours: In Class 3 Clinical Total 3

Description

Coming from different generations means we filter and view things differently. This interactive class prepares you to communicate and relate to the five generations that make up our society today. By understanding each generation's background and defining moments that influenced them, you can create appreciation and opportunity for groups to learn from one another.

Prerequisites

None

Books

Generations in the Classroom - ISBN: (Included)

Learning Objectives

- 1. Identify the 5 generations in our society: traditionalists, boomers, x-ers, millennials, and gen z.
- 2. Analyze characteristics and cohort experiences of the five generations.
- 3. Describe how to teach, train, and relate to person from each of the 5 generations.

Teaching Philosophy

We believe that instructors, staff, and administrators have a shared responsibility to provide: 1) innovative course design and instruction; 2) a safe, learner-centered environment; and 3) an authentic learning experience.

Teaching Methods

We believe that instructors, staff and administrators have a shared responsibility to provide:

- innovative course design and instructions
- a safe, learner-centered environment
- an authentic learning experience

Evaluation Methods

Successful completion of this course will be determined by:

- -attendance
- -attentiveness (as observed by instructor)
- -active participation in classroom activities (as observed by instructor)

Student Responsibilities

To ensure a quality and safe learning environment, students are required to follow the Post-Secondary Student Behavior policy #560. This policy can be found at www.mntc.edu/board-policies. Printed copies are available upon request.